VERTICAL MAPPING RESOURCES RELOCATES SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA LOCATION

VMR has moved from its previous location in Dana Point, CA to San Diego, CA

San Diego, Calif., May 5th, 2009- Vertical Mapping Resources Inc. (VMR), a leading integrated aerial mapping and geospatial land information company with offices in both Arizona and California has recently relocated their Dana Point, CA location to San Diego, CA.

The new office location at 949 W. Hawthorn Street, #11 San Diego, CA 92101 is approximately 60 miles South of VMRs previous southern California location. The move will benefit VMR, its employees, and most importantly its clients. The site of VMRs newest office is a part of the Little Italy District located in Downtown San Diego. Downtown San Diego is the home of various local businesses, residential buildings, and entertainment sources. As result of this relocation VMR will have better access to the rail systems, as well as interstates, which will aid in travel to and from outside client locations. VMR anticipates this transition will enable them to better serve their existing clients, as well as develop new relationships.

VMR has been providing professional mapping services in southern California for more than eight years, and feels that their decision to open this state of the art facility will help solidify and advance the company's place in the market. More particularly, VMR has been working with the greater San Diego region regularly since its inception, and believes that it serves as an excellent locale for the company's newest location.
